I wanted to share this advocacy opportunity.

With 17 people dying on the transplant waitlist each day, we need policymakers who are willing to exhaust every option available to get more people to consider living organ donation. One key strategy is by ensuring that there are multiple ways to cover the costs associated with becoming a donor, so that giving the gift of life doesn't result in financial hardship.

The recently introduced Living Organ Donor Tax Credit Act would offer a $5,000 one-time refundable tax credit to living organ donors who were not reimbursed for the costs related to organ donation by the National Living Organ Donor Assistance Center (NLDAC) or another entity. This will directly lead to more organ donation and help every patient currently on the kidney transplant waitlist. Help ensure this bill gets the broad support it deserves by urging your federal representative to cosponsor it now.

A refundable tax credit is a bipartisan, common-sense measure that will remove financial barriers that interfere with an individual's ability to donate a kidney. Living donors should not have their life-saving generosity rewarded with outstanding bills for lodging, transportation, and other donation-related expenses. By backing this new legislation, your lawmaker can help more heroes come forward to give the gift of life: Take action now to urge their official support.

Thank you for being part of our movement toward Transplants for All.
